To whom it may concern,

I am very pleased to write you a character reference for my student, Kelly Rogers.

I have known Kelly since her enrollment in the Spring 2010 and I must say that her strength and determination to complete her degree has truly been an inspiration to me and her peers. Her biggest strengths I have noticed are her attention to detail, her organizational skills and her caring attitude. I noticed these traits immediately and she quickly became a mentor and a role model in her programming classes. Kelly is also very self-driven and independent, which is helpful in my position as a Student Success Coach because I know she has the motivation to complete her school work while dealing with life's many challenges – all while appearing on our Dean's list every semester!

I certainly recommend Kelly for any position that will utilize her organizational skills and insatiable motivation. If you have any more questions regarding Kelly, feel free to call me at 216-520-7405.

Regards,
